This is very popular Tuesday night Criterium race training series with an emphasis on rider development in the most popular racing format in the USA. Elite and professional racing teams have used this event as a training ride in prep for races like Downers Grove. It is some great racing. In this multi-lap race format, bike handling especially the ability to handle many corners in a pack and sprinting are important skills.

The benefits of showing up! Opportunity to race competitively during the week. Great arena for beginners to learn how to race. NOBODY is pulled from a race - If you get dropped, hop right back in. Various race formats keep the racing from getting stale.

USAC Rule: These training races are held under the permit of the USAC so a current annual or one day license is required to participate. Both can be purchased at the event. Juniors must have a release signed by a parent or legal guardian only. This requirement is applied at USAC races, as well. Helmets are mandatory.

*Weather and Cancellation

The Chief Ref "calls it at the line" based on the conditions just before the start of the race. We have had days where it rained all day, but was fine for racing by 6:00. The course has one spot where rain water may accumulate. We have extremely high success rate for clearing any standing water before the event.
